

PROTEST FRAMED BY SCHOOL BOARD

Ultimatum to Commissioners
Is Promised at Next Meeting.

CLAIM BUILDINGS UNSAFE WHEN NEW

Spicy Remarks Indulged in When Matter Came Up for Discussion.

An ultimatum to the District Commissioners from the Board of Education, refusing to accept any more unsafe and unhealthy school buildings, such as the board says have been palmed off on it, is promised for the next board meeting in a resolution to that effect.

Capt. James F. Oyster, president of the board, spoke militantly against the Commissioners and their subordinates at the meeting yesterday, and it was he who urged that such a resolution be brought before him, which he said he would take great pleasure in entertaining.

"I appeal to you to stand with your committee to see that these buildings are fitted for their purposes. We will not accept buildings without the approving reports of the fire and health officials. We must not let the Commissioners shift the responsibility to our shoulders when an accident happens while they are in some other part of the world. Let us do our duty to the children. We are not to look after the Commissioners. We are entrusted with the lives and minds of the children. It is for them I speak. Recently they turned over the Deanwood school as completed, with no provision for water. Think of that sort of thing from architects?"

"Did you call them architects?" interrupted Mr. Cox, with a sarcastic smile.

"They shouldn't be," agreed Captain Oyster. "In Gage school, after two doors were cut in the walls, when the school was completed, Major Morrow has now finally agreed to make another exit; where, I don't know. It is not only so with buildings, but with the additions. Most of them have to be changed after they are finished. Some of these conditions are changed in the special reports of the fire and health officers, but the Commissioners pigeonhole them. They refuse to give us those reports. And I believe that at the next meeting we should pass a resolution declaring our intention of not accepting buildings in the future without the reports of the fire and health officers."

Hammered His Love Into Heart Of Woman Who Repulsed Him

Brawny Railroader Twice Arrested for Breaking Into Home of Widow, But He Won and Laughed at Fate.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 15.—The way to marry a spirited woman who says "No" to one's proposal is to pay no attention at all to what she says, but just to go ahead and wed her.

Landon T. James, Baltimore and Ohio engineer, hands out this advice. James ought to know. The young widow he loved had him arrested twice last week when he attempted to put his theory into practice. The object of his tender regard complained that he broke in her door to make her sign an application for the marriage license.

On top of this comes the announcement that James won after all, and that the wedding is set for Monday. James wore a smile as wide as his collar when he set out on his locomotive run today.

In court, when James was tried last week, it didn't look a bit as though he was going to win. He got a suspended workhouse sentence and heavy fines, on two charges, and told if he didn't stop his peremptory wooing the sentences would go into effect.

But James' method of wooing had already had its effect. Last evening, according to announcement from Baltimore and Ohio yards, Mrs. Mamie Johnston, who is the one James made up his mind to win, telephoned him. She told him he might call.

He did in a hurry.

Telephoned at 7:45 p. m.

Arrived at home, 7:56 p. m.

Admitted at 7:59 p. m.

Engaged at 8:00 p. m.

Which is going some.

James told engineers at the yards today they would go on a long wedding trip through the south right after the wedding Monday.

"The arrest and sentences in court didn't bother me a bit," said James. "A man in love shouldn't mind a little thing like that."

of vacuum cleaning was ordered investigated by a committee.

As a mark of honor to the memory of the Rev. Samuel Francis Smith, author of the words of "America," the school board will attend the dedicatory exercises of the Brightwood School, October 21, his 100th anniversary.

For the study of diseases among the poor, Gen. George M. Kober, of the housing commission, was given permission to examine the crippled and deformed children in some one school, on condition that it be done without the knowledge of the other children or any embarrassment to the afflicted ones.

Regimental and company officers for the cadets were ratified and the formation of a new company at the McKinley Manual Training School ordered.

A suggestion that 5,000 text books on tuberculosis be bought and the elementary study of it be taken up in the schools was referred to the committee on text books.
